In this easy to read, easy to complete self-study workbook, twelve simple positive decision making tools are taught in a 180 day course including daily writing assignments and practice activities. GOGI Certificate Program is based on the contribution of hundreds of men, women and children in prisons over a ten year investigation into their poor choices and what it takes to achieve lasting behavioral changes. The course is effective in assisting the individual in restructuring habitual behavior such as addiction and other illegal choices leading to arrest and detention. The course offers a powerful tool for educators to redirect the responsibility of education onto the individual. The GOGI Certificate Program is a solid alternative to detention of low-level offenders. It is also a powerful reinforcement of release preparation for individuals preparing for release into community. Designed for at risk and incarcerated individuals, the course is also effective for any individual struggling with making positive changes in their lives.
